1. Our simplified Regulatory Framework is here!
It is with great pleasure that we announce that the University’s revised Regulatory Framework has been launched today! The Regulatory Framework is a hierarchy of instruments through which the University governs its operations. Head straight to the Regulatory Framework website where you can navigate to the components of the Regulatory Framework using the toolbar on the left hand side of the page, including:
- University of Melbourne Statute, approved by the Minister for Training and Skills on 24 June 2016
- Council Regulation
- Academic Board Regulation
- Vice Chancellor Regulation
- New policies* produced as a result of the Regulatory Framework review and the Policy Consolidation Project, housed in the Melbourne Policy Library
- New processes supporting the new policies, housed in the Process Library.

If you have any questions, comments or feedback regarding the new Regulatory Framework, please send them to reg-framework@unimelb.edu.au.

*Note, the revised Delegations Framework and a small number of policies will be approved at a later date. A follow up communication upon their publication will be distributed.

2. Resources to help you navigate the new Regulatory Framework

The Regulatory Framework website provides the following:
- Regulatory Framework Overview video
- A visual depiction of the Regulatory Framework
- Mapping documents for the statutes, regulations and policies (revoked to new). These maps will assist you and your team in identifying where content has shifted, to assist in updating your local documentation, hyperlinks and references
- Links to each area of the Regulatory Framework.

The Melbourne Policy Framework website provides links to the:
- Policy Framework
- Melbourne Policy Library
- Policy Lifecycle (policy development, approval and review resources (including the recently approved Policy Lifecycle Process), and the Draft Policy Consultation Notice Board)
- Policy Snapshots (summaries of each of the 9 categories of revised policy, their key messages, objectives and contacts). The Policy Snapshots would be a great resource to filter down through your teams.
